

ARKANSAS

AS TERRITORY OF LOUISIANA

July 4, 1805 - December 6, 1812

In 1686 the French built a trading post near the confluence of the Arkansas and Mississippi Rivers. By 1751 they had erected a fort about 30 miles up the Arkansas River which, because of flooding, was moved in 1756 to a spot six miles above the mouth of the River and named Fort Desha. Following the 1763 Treaty of Paris the Spanish took control of the post, renaming it Fort Carlos III. By 1779 flooding again forced the removal of the fort to its old location 25 miles up river. In 1791 the post was renamed Fort San Estevan. When Major George B. Armistead took control in 1804 he renamed it Fort Madison. Authorities disagree as to whether the post was abandoned in 1808 or 1812, but after 1808 (the date that a second Ft. Madison was constructed in what is now Iowa) the name of the post became "the post on the Arkansa" or "Arkansas Post".

"Arkansas, 1806" Addressed to Christopher Kaufmann, Ouachita. Hand carried, as there was no postal service. Earliest reported letter from Arkansas.

"Fort Madison 30th Novr 1808" dateline on letter of Major George Armistead to Frederick Bates, Sec. of the Territory of Louisiana at St. Louis. This letter was probably carried by military courier to the Chickasaw Agency in Mississippi Territory where it entered the U. S. mail Feb. 9, 1809

AS MISSOURI TERRITORY

December 7, 1812 - July 4, 1819

The first post office established within the boundaries of present day Arkansas was "Arkansa" (also called Arkansas Post). The first returns from this office are dated July 1, 1817 so it was probably established in 1816. The 1817 "Table of Post Offices" lists this office as being in Arkansas County, Mo. T., Eli J. Lewis, P.M. Also established no later than 1817, and thus operational under the jurisdiction of Missouri Territory were Cadron, Davidson(ville), Little Red River and White River.

ARKANSAS TERRITORY

July 5, 1819 - June 14, 1836

POPULATION

1810 – 1,062	1840 – 97,000
1820 – 14,255	1850 – 209,000
1830 – 30,388	1860 – 435,000

Cut from Missouri Territory. Originally in the Louisiana Purchase. Created by Act of Congress March 2, 1819, effective July 5, 1819. The Territory was larger than the state, initially including most of present day Oklahoma. The area to the west left over after Indian cessions of the 1820s and Arkansas statehood (1836) had post offices which, because of Post Office Department administrative attachment to Arkansas, continued to use Ark. abbreviations for many years although really in the Indian Territory. See introduction to Oklahoma.

Little Rock Post Office established 1820. In 1820 the Arkansas Gazette listed offices as follows: Ark. Post, Cadron, Clark Court House, Crystal Hill, Davidsonville, Fourche de Thomas, Hempstead Court House, Hopefield, Little Rock, Mississippi, Mount Praval, Point Chicot, White Run.

An * before a listing denotes institutional ownership. These markings are not priced unless similar, privately owned markings are known.

The town of Little Rock was first staked out in 1820 by St Louis land speculator William Russell. The same year a rival group, led by James Bryan and William O'Hara, laid out a town over the Russell tract which they called Arkopolis. The first setback for the Bryan-O'Hara group and the use of the name Arkopolis came on April 10, 1820 when the community's first postmaster, Amos Wheeler, was appointed for the town of Little Rock. Later, the Territory's superior court also recognized the Russell claim so it is not clear why the name Arkopolis was used as a postal town marking as late as September 1821. The absence of any recorded Little Rock postmarks prior to October 20, 1821, leaves open the possibility that Postmaster Wheeler, contrary to Post Office Department records used the name Arkopolis from the very beginning. What can be said for certain is that Little Rock became the second capital of Arkansas Territory on June 1, 1821, and that Henry W. Conway, the community's second postmaster(appointed October 17, 1821), never used the old name in his markings.

This is not the Dwight Indian Mission in what became Indian Territory but the Dwight mission at its first location, 75 miles up river from Little Rock in what is now Pope County, Ark. The mission did not move to its second location until 1829, a year after the Cherokee Nation's cession of its Arkansas land. The Dwight Mission post office was the only one to operate within the Cherokee Nation West during the time it was located in present day. After the mission's removal the post office was continued for the new town of Dwight.			See note under Ultima Thule, this section.
